

A Wish Fulfilled

This holiday season and throughout the year,
The spirit of giving back and saying thanks should ring loud and clear.

Whether paying it forward or backwards, it makes no difference.
The point is to do something of significance.

Helping children learn how to read is an important cause to me indeed,
For it ensures they will have an equal opportunity to succeed.

The gift of reading is priceless and lasts a lifetime.
It opens up a world of possibilities and can even be a lifeline.

Because you are special, if for no other reason,
You deserve an extraordinary gift to commemorate the season.
That is why I made a child's wish come true
in honor of magnificent you.

An underserved child in Houston is now a proud owner of six new books through the Barbara Bush Houston Literacy Foundation.

Learn more about My Home Library at BushHoustonLiteracy.org.

